Young Audiences of Houston offers over 169 Educational Fine Arts programs in Dance, Music, Theater, Storytelling, and Visual Arts, to view our complete online catalog please visit our website www.yahouston.org

Workshops: offered in all arts disciplines, workshops are lasting, hands-on artistic experiences where students work and create with a Young Audiences of Houston professional artist in small classroom-sized groups. The effectiveness of workshops may also be heightened by combining with Young Audiences of Houston performances.

Masterclasses: offered in selected disciplines, masterclasses are designed to inspire and improve the technical skills of fine arts students through demonstration, hands on artistic and technical guidance, and invaluable shared experience led by accomplished role models.

Residencies: these extended courses offered in all arts disciplines, are led by a Young Audiences of Houston professional artist and can last anywhere from two days to a full school year with an optional culminating student event. The effectiveness of residencies may also be heightened by combining with Young Audiences of Houston performances and professional development for educators.

Performances: presented by individual artists and ensembles in all performing arts disciplines, these high quality, interactive, and educational programs reach and inspire the maximum number of students/audience members.

Professional Development: for educators of all disciplines, these outstanding courses for faculty and staff inspire teaching and enhance curriculum by providing new ways of reaching and realizing the potential of children through the arts. All participants receive GT and continuing education credit hours.

After-School and Summer Programs: Young Audiences of Houston provides exemplary full service programming 12 months a year. Whether you are seeking to enrich your existing programs, or to begin one or more new programs to serve specific needs, Young Audiences of Houston is prepared to assist you.

Special Events: Young Audiences of Houston programs are available for a multitude of alternative venue sites. Performers can adapt programs for special events, fundraisers, and community and corporate events.
